

Session 3

Success with the Creation of a Career Counselor I

Clabe Slone – KEDC Room 139

With the development of a new program from the Department of Labor called Youth Career Connect, the Kentucky Education Development Corporation (KEDC) has been working with 10 PLTW high schools in implementing pathways for success with the creation of an Career Counselor for each location. The role and value of this position will be discussed along with the services that they offer to our YCC Students, which include: Individual Career and Academic Counseling, work experience activities (job shadowing and internships), leadership development, and application of soft skills.

Job Interview Skills... First Impressions

Dress the Part... With any organization, the way to dress is the way you would dress if you got the job. If you don't know what that is, ask. If you can't get any information on the company's style of attire, dress a little more formally than you think you might need to.

Be on Time or Arrive Early... If you're not on time for your interview, the game is over. Arriving early allows you to take a few deep breaths, organize your notes, refresh your memory on a few points that you've found difficult in your practices.

The Handshake is Critical... The interviewer starts forming opinions from the moment the two of you shake hands. No kidding. And by the way, that handshake is critical. Here's how to do it correctly:

1. Look the interviewer in the eye as you offer your hand.
2. Shake his or her hand firmly ... but not like a vise.
3. Smile and say something enthusiastic like, "Hello Mr. Smith, it's great to meet you!"

Job Interview Skills...

Interview Q & A

Interview questions are designed to figure out:

1. If you can do the job.
2. Why you want the job.
3. If you will fit in with their company.

6 Top Questions, Logic, and Best Answers

- What is your greatest strength?
- Do your strengths align with the position.
- List all your strengths and give examples.

HINT: Make a list of the job qualifications and then make a list of your strongest skills to match those.

- What is your greatest weakness?
- How self aware you are with yourself.
- Mention skills that are not critical to the job and skills that you have improved on.
